

THE NEED FOR NATURAL RESOURCE ADVOCACY

TAKE ACTION

- Is your community resource based?
- Concerned about the lack of awareness of resource importance to your economy?
- Struggling to balance people, planet and prosperity when managing resource development?
- Want to know more about how other Canadian communities are dealing with these challenges?

In 2018, 909 communities in Canada were economically reliant on at least one natural resource sector. Each of these communities is home to real Canadians who are facing unique challenges every single day. Let's work together as Canadians to take action in support of resource workers.

ABOUT US

Canada Action is a non-partisan, independent, diverse, grassroots-based organization that encourages Canadians to work together to take action in support of our vital natural resource sectors and the communities and families they support.
